SLIPPERY CELTICS

Letter to the Class of 2017,

Each year I am charged with the task of writing a senior letter that summarizes my reflection of four years of my stewardship of West Roxbury Academy. Each year that task becomes more emotionally jarring because of the memories and adventures that I have shared with the out-going senior class. An easier task is to recite statistics pertaining to MCAS scores, graduation rates, and academic achievements. What makes this year even harder is the impact to the overall climate of the past two years.

I know that the school's mascot is the pirate, but during the past years, we having actually become a phoenix. The phoenix is a magical bird in Greek mythology that regenerates itself through fire. The phoenix becomes new life by arising from the ashes of its previous self. During those four years you have been asked to arise through triumphs, adversities and tragedies. And you have been made stronger in the face of adversities that you have gone through.

But while I'm reflecting, let me know that I remember your freshman year, when many of you learned how to ride a bicycling in Mr. O'Brien's class. I remember your sophomore year, when many of you reciting poetry with Mrs. Snodgrass, or signed up for a Summer Search adventure. Also remember sophomore year as the year that you assisted the school in the formation of a Student Government Association. It was you who created the first International Day, the cook-off competition, and improved school spirit and pride. I remember junior year, for the protesting the school closure proposal. I remember driving up to the Frederick's and handing out pizza to students protesting the school closer. Then after the decision was reversed, I remember that the next day, seniors were focused on supporting the sophomore classes prepare for the MCAS. I remember senior year, the first game on the new football field. And the excitements as seniors delighted in having a gym class into their schedules, the grade level trip to Salem, and the college announcement.

As you go forth, take a moment to breath and reflect on your many, many accomplishment. Take time to thank your teachers, hug your family, and keep your friends a bit closer. I could have spoken more about your scholarship; but this letter is about your heart. The Class of 2016 best represents Mark Twain's quote, "It's not the size of the dog in the fight; it's the size of the fight in the dog."

Thank you for your fighting spirit. Thank you for enduring my poems and humor. Never forget what you can accomplish when you work together.

Sincerely

The Seniors conducted a Social Experiment focused on human trafficking, homelessness, transgender youth, bullying and the opioid crisis.
They developed research questions, wrote hypothesis, and used a scientific method to prove, or disprove their hypothesis. They traveled to the Public Garden, Trinity Church, and to Newbury and Boylston Streets to test them out.
The students learned that despite their personal beliefs many people in our city, and around the country have empathy, and compassion for strangers facing adversity or distress.
